

I'm Camilla Farrar, married to Pete.

We have 2 young children, Isla almost 5yrs and Joseph 2 yrs. I love working at the Olive ROC Cafe and being part of a great team of staff and volunteers.

I spent 6 years living in New York working as a TV producer for the BBC, on programs such as Changing Rooms & What Not to Wear. In my spare time I did voluntary work for Times Square Church and Harlem Square Church, helping with a weekly food kitchen for the homeless and youth clubs.

I have been on mission trips to South America and Africa, where I taught English in Honduras and worked with young people. I ran the New York Marathon in 2004 after training for many months.

It's hard work in the Cafe but our customers are good fun. I love the Edgeley people and it's a privilege to serve and be part of this special community.
